Same places next year

We are pleased to announce that the QBA has secured the ANA and GCI as the venues for 2006.

Semi finals

These are underway now – Friday daytime – in the Tilba Rooms ANA. The finals of the Senior and Restricted Teams are also being held. In the Open, The GCI winners EUSTACE (Greg Eustace - Graeme Corin, Steven Bock - Les Grewcock) are playing NOBLE (Barry Noble, Phil Gue - Khokan Bagchi, George Bilski - Terry Brown). EUSTACE won their first nine matches comfortably, including 20+ VPs against teams 1, 2 and 3.

In the other semi, the Irish/NZ/Qld GREENWOOD team (David & Diana Greenwood, Andy Braithwaite - Bill Haughie) play the mostly English HOLLAND team (John Holland -Michelle Brunner, John Armstrong -Howard Melbourne, Paul Marston)

The semis are 40 boards, finishing at around 5pm. The 50 board final starts with the Friday night Vugraph at 8pm, finishing Saturday morning. The semis and the final will also be covered live by Bridgebase's online vugraph. Go to bridgebase.com.

For the rest of us

The VuGraph starts at 8pm tonight so grab an early meal at a sponsoring restaurant.

Make sure you collect your victory dinner tickets (not transferrable) from the ANA desk then line up a partner for the ANA shield. It should be someone you rarely play with. It starts at 9 am Saturday morning. You can enter up to 9.45am.

Winners of minor prizes can collect them from the ANA desk after 5pm today or at the VD. Remember, No ticket, No entry.

Play-off Points

The points for the Pairs were boosted for this year. In the Wednesday bulletin I used the old figures of 20-15-10-5. They should have been 32-24-16-8.

In the teams, they go 36-18-9. I think ... NOBLE and EUSTACE will fight over the major awards because HOLLAND and GREENWOOD are foreign teams. 4½ each go to NEILL and WALSH, best of the rest after Round 10. In future, these minor awards will probably be given to the Swiss leaders at the end of Round 12.

Teachers' Association

The ABTA (Australian Bridge Teachers' Association) has a Quarterly Bulletin, an accreditation exam and runs seminars like the well attended one on Tuesday morning.

If you think you might like to join - by taking the exam - contact me, or the President Lorraine Harkness on 0409 220 761 or email her at lorraineharkness@bigpond.com. PS Lorraine would like her supervised card returned.

Final lack of flourish

Those who took the 33-1 finals odds available on Team 7 ANA at midnight on Wednesday were looking good when they scored 25-25-24 to rise to second with one round to go. They then needed to beat the GREENWOOD team 18-12 to make it but lost by that margin. 20-odd imps the other way would have done it.

A late run of 25-25-24 put Team 7 above the asking rate but a few soft dismissals restricted them to 12 runs in the last over – not nearly enough.

Here are some last round hands: Match 10, Bd 15

East finds the \diamond 3 lead and it's all over. West fires one back when in with the \heartsuit A then discards an encouraging club on partner's \heartsuit K. Not too hard to underlead the \clubsuit A now.

Aggressive 2-openings can win imps in many ways:

This is a normal auction, leading to +110 for NS.

At our table, Avi Kanetkar opened a weak 2♠ as North, East overcalled 2NT – as you do – and South said double. This went for -800, 12 imps from thin air.

Match 1 S/nil	0, Bd 27	98543

This is normal enough – a $3\diamond$ opening would be tame. North finds the good club lead to the J-K-A. A trump reveals the bad break so declarer switches to spades. South wins the A and leads the \diamond J to dummy's ace. Now what?

Declarer has to exit with a club, no more random rounds of trumps. North can give South a diamond ruff but that's it.

The Irish Connecting

I have one of David's bridge books at home - Instructions for the Defence co-written with Jeremy Flint. On the back cover, David is described as "One of the game's rising stars." It is quite an old book ...

A tired editor led the $\diamond K$ and that was that. Bill Haughie crossed to the $\clubsuit A$ and led a heart. Nine tricks now.

Damn! All I had to do was lead the \heartsuit A at trick 1! This cannot cost and would have saved the day.

I guess Michaels is okay but some suits are made for bidding. North sensed a misfit and went to ground quickly.

6-5 in the reds

Haven't there been a lot of these? They've gone well too.

Match 10, Bd 18. North has 0-5-6-2 but nothing much makes.

Match 9, Bd 10. East has

♠ 92 ♡ A10643 ◇ AKQ654 ♣ -

You make $6\diamond$ or $6\heartsuit$, assuming partner with 8 clubs gets the gag.

Again NS make five of a red suit. Opening $1\heartsuit$ will work this time but I strongly prefer opening $1\diamondsuit$ and reversing into hearts. Only open $1\heartsuit$ with 5-6 if the hearts are much chunkier.

Avi opened the North hand $4\heartsuit$. Quite right, this is not a 2-suiter. Note that partner has the worst possible shape yet $4\heartsuit$ is as good as $5\diamondsuit$.

 $1 \heartsuit$ is acceptable but $2 \heartsuit$ (hearts and a minor) is criminal.

4♡ plays well enough, provided declarer remembers to discard some of dummy's diamonds.

EW are likely to be silent as you stumble into the poor 6.

If East leads the ♣Q, you should make. The ♣A comes down in three rounds for a spade discard, then you run the ♠Q. Easy but hair-raising.

What if East leads the singleton spade? Let's say West covers dummy's ♠Q, not that it matters. If you play a club now, East gets a spade ruff.

There is an obscure solution. You need to run the trumps while ruffing a diamond, catching West in a 3-card ending. So A-K-ruff high (or you are trapped on dummy). Then proceed to this ending:

E/Both	 ▲ 93 ♡ 5 ◇ — 	5
 ▲ 10 6 ♡ — ◇ J ▲ A 	♣ 4	irrelevant
	▲ J8 ♡ — ◇ — ♣ K7

Pitch dummy's ♣7 on the last trump and watch West squirm – the old cliché at 2am. When the ◊J eventually appears, you lead your club and head off to find your local bridge columnist. Or go back to sleep.

Gold Star Members

Add these to Tuesday's list of 22 people who have attended 25 or more Surfers. We're sure there are more

Malcolm Allen Jay Faranda Bill Hunt Claire Hyne Clare Jackman Keith McDonald Jessica Mortess Mike Robson Judy Valentine Vi Vella Eve Whitby

The 30+ names went into a lucky draw and the winner was Fay Landy. Quite appropriate as we think that Fay and Tony J are the only two to have attended all but one Surfers. Nobody has a perfect score.

Fay wins a dinner for two at Hatties Seafood Restaurant at the ANA.

Lost in the Woods

I can blame Paul Lavings for this error. The co-inventor of Swine – Paul Woods – is here in Surfers, playing again after a 30 year layoff.

Nationwide Pairs

This is an ABF initiative, designed to allow clubs in rural areas to provide more red points for their members. Scored across Australia via the net. Go to abf.com.au to find out more.

While you are there, have a look at these bulletins online. The photos look muuuuuuch better.

Phaic Tan – The People

Imbued with a curious blend of politeness and militant Maoism, the Phaic Tanese people have staged some of the most courteous revolutions in Asian history. Indeed, these friendly, outgoing folk clearly value good manners above all else. Rarely will you hear a raised voice or terse remark between locals. In fact, it's not unusual to see two drivers having been involved in a collision, get out of their vehicles and exchange gifts.

Health Note: Visitors to Phaic Tan should rest assured that there have been no new reported cases of SARS (Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome) or reports of Avian Flu since last year when the Government launched a mass eradication program to rid the country of all journalists.

Some late advice ... This is our bus, with Diana at the door. Some players hopped into the Japanese tourist instead, buckled up ready to go. A quick thinking doorman spotted the error and saved them from an unscheduled trip to Dreamworld. Most have chosen to walk between venues, bravely dodging the relentless traffic.
