West leads the king of clubs against your heart slam and after dummy is displayed it appears that the contract is a tad ambitious. Given that West would have led a diamond if he had one, can you see any way of making twelve tricks?

Tim Bourke's Problem – Solution

You can always make twelve tricks provided East has no more than two clubs. After winning the ace of clubs, you should cash the ace of trumps and then lead a low trump to dummy's ten. Next you ruff a club back to hand and play two more rounds of trumps. When East did begin with one or two clubs, such as on this full deal:

	♠ 8 5 2
	♥ 10 6
	♦ 10 4
	♣ 10 8 7 6 3 2
♠ Q 10 7 6 3		♠ J 9 4
♥ 9 5 3 2		♥ 4
♦ -		♦ Q J 8 7 6 5 3
♣ K Q J 5		♣ 9 4
	♠ A K
	♥ A K Q J 8 7
	♦ A K 9 2
	♣ A

This ending will come about:

	♠ 8 5
	♦ 10 4
	♣ 10 8 7
♠ Q 10 7 6 3		♠ J 9 4
♥ -		♥ -
♦ -		♦ Q J 8 7
♣ Q J		♣ -
	♠ A K
	♥ J
	♦ A K 9 2

When you play the jack of trumps, throwing a club from table, East is in trouble. You know he began with seven diamonds a trump and, hopefully two clubs. If East reduces to three diamonds, you will play the ace, king and another diamond. East wins the trick and has to return a spade, allowing you to take the last three tricks with the ace-king of spades and the nine of diamonds. Whenever East keeps four diamonds, and so only two spades, you will counter by cashing the ace-king of spades, reducing East to ♦Q-J-8-7. This allow you to make three of the last four trick by leading the two of diamonds to dummy's ten. When East takes the ten of diamonds with the jack or queen, he will be forced to lead a diamond, allowing your nine of diamonds to take a trick, and you will take the last three tricks.

You should see that it was vital to ruff a club on the above layout, for otherwise East would defeat you by coming down to two spades, three diamonds and a club on the last trump. After winning his diamond, he would be able to play a club to his partner.

Uppercut!

Peter Gill

Kate Davies and John Patterson, of Marlborough in New Zealand, produced a neat defence in the first round of the SWPT.

15	♠ AJ5	Dir: S

9 6	♦ 97	N 3 - 4 4 1
	♣ AKQ102	S 3 - 4 4 1
14		E - - - -
		W - - - -

The auction (with Kate West and John East) was

West	North	East	South
			1♣
1♦	1♥	2♦	2♠
P	3♦	P	3♥
P	4♥	End

The two diamond raise showed three card support – with four diamonds, East would bid 3♦ at this vulnerability.

John led the ♦3 and Kate won with the King. If she plays three rounds of diamonds, declarer should find the percentage play of finessing the ♥10, especially when the bidding has marked East with the Ace.

Kate, therefore, switched to the ♣J. Declarer won and continued clubs, trying to dispose of his diamonds. Kate ruffed the third club with the ♥9, over-ruffed by the 10.

A spade was continued to dummy's King and then a heart to the King and Ace. John carefully cashed the ♦Q and continued a club, ruffed by Kate's Jack to promote John's 8 as the setting trick.

Another possible defence to try is a trump switch at trick 2, with East ducking the Ace. We haven't heard of any pair who found that defence – in theory there is no defence 4♥ is cold.

Ed: Yesterday's NOTNews reported how Vivien Cornell did switch to a trump a trick 2 although husband, Mike, didn't duck. Two rounds of diamonds followed which removed the possibility of a finesse against Vivien's ♥J.

Leading Questions

Have some lead problems. They were solved with varying degrees of success at some of the lower numbered tables.

1 You, North, hold:

♠ Q 7 6 ♥ Q J 8 ♦ K J 10 3 ♣ 8 7 2

and have to lead after

West	North	East	South
			P
1NT	P	3♣	P
4♣	P	4♦	P
4♥	P	4NT	P
5♠	P	6NT	End

1NT was strong and 3♣ showed clubs and slam interest. 4♦ and 4♥ were cues. 4NT was keycard and 5♠ showed two keycards and the ♣Q

2 Still North you hold

♠ 10 7 6 3 ♥ 8 7 6 4 3 ♦ 8 3 ♣ 3 2

The auction:

West	North	East	South
		1♣	x
1♦	P	4♦	P
5♦	End

3 East this time. You hold,

♠ 6 4 3 ♥ K 8 ♦ J 8 4 3 2 ♣ 10 6 3

and have to lead after:

West	North	East	South
P	2♠	P	3♥
P	3NT	P	4♣
P	4NT	P	6♠

1NT was strong and the sequence to 3NT revealed that North had four spades but not five and South was slam interested. 4♣ was a cue and 4NT RKCB though South decided he wasn't hanging around any longer.

1) Auckland's Julie Atkinson found herself in this position, having to lead to 6NT. With long clubs and the Ace of diamonds known to be in dummy, Julie decided to put declarer to an immediate diamond guess. She led the ♦J.

This was not best.

11		♠ Q76	Dir: S

	3	♦		N - - - - -
		♣	KT653	S - - - - -
				E - 5 3 2 4
				W - 5 3 2 5

Declarer ducked in dummy and South's discard rather gave the game away and enabled declarer to play the suit for five tricks.

Julie's partner, Patrick Carter, felt particularly ill-done by because

- Julie can lead ♦3 and beat the contract.
- Julie can lead the diamond K and beat the contract
- Julie can lead any non-diamond and beat the contract
- Even allowing five diamond tricks, declarer still needs successful finesses in both clubs and spades.

2) On lead against 5♦, Jessel Rothfield found the ♠3

10		♠ T763	Dir: E

		♣	K4	S - - 3 2 -
				E 5 5 - - -
				W 4 4 - - -

Declarer, Phil Markey, was off before he started as Seamus Browne cashed his three winners with almost indecent speed. If Jessel leads any other suit, Phil makes eleven tricks in some comfort.

3) David Appleton and Peter Reynolds had this auction to 6♠ rather than the superior 6♥ on this layout:

8		♠ J875	Dir: W
		♥ AT4	Vul:
		♦ AK
		♣ KQJ7
♠	Q2	♠	643

	14	♦	T5	N - - 6 6 6
		♣	A	S - - 6 6 6
				E - - - - -
				W - - - - -

From what I've heard, most pairs who played in 6♠ went down when they took a losing trump finesse. David received the lead of a small spade and decided that the only hope was a doubleton Queen – "Yes, Virginia, there is a Father Christmas."

Ron Klinger and Matthew Mullamphy had a neatly controlled auction to the top spot on the board

♠ J875
♥ AT4
♦ AK
♣ KQJ7

♠ AKT9
♥ QJ9732
♦ T5

1♣                      1♦ (Transfer to ♥)

3♥ (Forcing)        3♠
4♥                      4NT (RKCB)
5♥ (2 keycards, no ♥Q) 6♥

The key to the auction was Matthew's decision to bid 4♥ rather than supporting spades. Matthew reasoned that his clubs would provide discards for any spade losers.

Matthew was left regretting a missed opportunity on this board from the same set.

1		♠ AK62	Dir: N

9	♦ A63		S 5 1 - 2 3
	♣ T987642		E - - 2 - -
4			W - - 2 - -

Matthew played the hand in 5♣ from the North seat. He realised as soon as he had misplayed, what he should, in fact, have done.

He received a heart lead to the King and Ace. Matthew points out that the thing to do now (when playing against opponents who generally give reliable count, as he was) is to cash a high spade. When East shows an odd number, Matthew can ruff a heart on table and play a spade back to the King in the closed hand. A spade is ruffed on table before a trump is played. When East, perforce, takes this he can return a diamond which will restrict Matthew's losers in that suit to one or give up a ruff and discard on hearts.

The Twilight Zone

Michael Ware and Jimmy Wallis are two of the foremost paranormal explorers in the trans-Tasman bridge worlds. When either is at the table, the normal laws of probability and rationality are transformed into something out of chaos theory as applied by the Marx Brothers.

Consider these exhibits:

In July 2009, come to Canberra for the
AUSTRALIAN NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS
Events for all skill levels.

2 WEEKS OF FUN STARTING 3 JULY

ANC 2009 Canberra 3-18 July at Hellenic Club

Congress events run alongside the Championship events. There will be two sessions daily. Some events are complete in a day. Others are over two or three days. Then you only need to play one session a day but can play two times. Both Pairs and Teams events are included. Some events are restricted to those with less than 300 masterpoints at 30 June 2009. Play in a number of Congress events and qualify for an entry fee discount. Get the details from our website www.anc2009.com.

The ANC Matchpointed Pairs are open to all eligible pairs irrespective of state affiliation. If viable to do so, some division of the categories may occur. These are Open, Women, Seniors, Mixed and Youth. The 3 sessions are 2pm Saturday 11 July and 10 am and 2 pm Sunday 12 July. Youth are those born on or after 1 January 1983 while Seniors are those born before 1 January 1951.

Michael first in the fifth round of the Teams.

He was (not) admiring

♠ 10 6 5 4 3 ♥ Q J 6 2 ♦ 4 2 ♣ 9 8

North passed as did Michael's partner, Matthew McManus . North's pass was an everyday pass but Michael and Matthew play a home-grown system in which this pass shows either 0-6 or 15-20 hcps.

South started things moving with 4♥ preempt which Michael passed. This went to Matthew who doubled – takeout and indicating the 15 – 20 alternative. Michael thought this a splendid thing and passed for 800.

Then the last board of the set. This is a key point for one of Michael's peculiar mind set. He counted up and found that he had nine plus scores and ten minuses. Not a problem for anybody else in the room but Michael was desperate to balance the books. Sadly, he had a lifeless five count. Even more sadly, after he passed, Iho opened 1NT and this was passed round to Michael.

The best feature of his hand was five clubs to the King. Wistfully, he wished that he and Matthew were playing 2♣ natural rather than as part of a takeout mechanism. Then he remembered – they WERE playing 2♣ natural!

"2♣" quoth Michael then "Oh B*gger", when Iho came again with 2♦.

"Damn," thinks Michael, "I should have taken my chances on getting 50 from 1NT".

However, this is the Twilight Zone. Matthew bid 2♠ and Michael got his plus score on this layout:

20		♠ A2	Dir: W

As did many, after two passes, East opened 3♣. As did EVERYBODY (including three caddies, the girl at the coffee bar and the Prime Minister who happened to be walking past at the time), Siggy Konig doubled. As did nobody else (except an alien from planet Zorg), Jimmy bid 3♠. A moment later, he was in six.

The ♣Q was ruffed and collected the bonus King from West. Jim cashed dummy's high spades and ruffed a diamond. He drew the last trumps with the Queen and played a heart towards dummy – he was not heartened by East's discard as he took table's Ace.

In damage control mode now, he led a small heart towards his 10 8 and West found the duck!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

A moment later West was on lead with the ♥J and playing a diamond towards the A Q, taking the finesse that Jimmy couldn't manage for himself.

Making 6♠.

Now tell me that there is no Twilight Zone.

A Miniature Gem

was given to me by Paul Marston who suggested that any article should be head-lined as "Never give up!"

I prefer my headline as I think this is one of the most interesting one card positions that I've ever seen.

Paul was declarer in 3NT as South on Stephen Burgess had opened 1♣ and Paul replied 2NT to show seven clubs in a "semi-forcing" hand. Stephen closed proceedings in 3NT about which Paul comments, "Right or wrong." And his tone left little doubt as to which side Paul was on!

Paul admits that when the ♥10 was led he basically gave up. He played the Ace. When East took his ♣A, a deluge of hearts ensued.

So what?

So, play the Jack of hearts at trick one and look at the heart spots. Whether East takes or ducks, the defence are getting three hearts and a club and no more while declarer takes his nine.

As Paul says – Never give up. See if there is a position where you can still win.

Young At Heart.

When it comes to counting birthdays, Jessel Rothfield can give most of us a head start. (Or to be more exact, a head, shoulders, trunk and thighs start.) Nonetheless, his hand as not lost its cunning as I was able to observe in the fourth round of the SWPT.

I have already described Jessel's killing lead on board 10. Then he was in the declarer's seat on board 17 where the score was 800 – to Jessel!

17		♠ KJT	Dir: N
		♥ J	Vul:

Jessel opened a Polish-type one club which drew 4♥ from Andrew Mill. Jessel backed in, in the pass-out chair, with 5♦ and, when this ran round, Phil Markey doubled. Seamus Browne, in the South seat, had no doubt and redoubled. The ♥K lead was taken by dummy's Ace and the Ace of trumps was cashed. Andrew's discard gave Jessel little pause as he played a spade from table and, unerringly, went up with the King when Phil played small. Jessel graciously conceded a spade and a club and wrote down +800 as if it were the most natural thing in the world.

On the next, I thought Andrew might try for his revenge but he actually had another plan in mind.

After two passes, Phil opened a waek no trump and Jessel doubled. Andrew passed which required Phil to redouble. Phil did as he was told but before I could find out the size of Andrew's generative appendages,

Jessel stepped in with 2♣. (Confusing this observer when it was not alerted.)

The reason for the lack of alert became apparent when Seamus raised to 3♣. Jessel handled his sub-Moysian fit with all the aplomb of a Youth player, cross-ruffing his way this way and that but, sadly, he DID need a seventh trump and went one off.

Andrew told me later that his plan was to bid 2♣ had Jessel passed and then redouble if either Seamus or Jessel applied the axe. This would ensure that Phil chose his best suit to play the hand.

Finally, an accurate display of defending from Jessel on Phil and Andrew reached 4♥ and Jessel started by taking the ♣A. He switched to a diamond which Phil took with dummy's Ace. Phil continued by ruffing a diamond and played the ♣J, covered by Jessel's King and ruffed in dummy. Another diamond was ruffed with Jessel overruffing.

Jessel exited a spade and Phil ran this towards his Jack but Seamus stepped in with the Queen. The King of diamonds followed from Seamus which Phil ruffed while Jessel discarded.

Jessel still had a natural trump trick to come for one off.
