New Public Liability Insurance Policy from 1 May 2010

The Australian Bridge Federation has undertaken a recent review of the ABF's insurance policies. It is good practice to test competitive conditions every 2-3 years as things can change. As a result of this review, the ABF is pleased to announce that it has been able to secure a significant reduction in the existing premium for its public liability insurance policy.

We retained the services of Tony Bemrose Insurance Brokers (TBIB) to review our public liability policy and exposures. They researched the market with a view of not only obtaining competitive premiums but also improving the policy coverage. They successfully negotiated a most competitive premium and more expansive coverage with CGU insurance. CGU is a highly respected Australian insurer and is part of the IAG group. They deal exclusively with the insurance broking market.

The premium saving was of sufficient quantum that it was beneficial to change over to the new policy at the earliest opportunity. The new policy came into force from 1st May 2010. A new Certificate of Currency will be uploaded to the ABF website and TBIB website for members use and information.

The ABF looks forward to a new beneficial working relationship with our new insurance brokers. TBIB is a full service general insurance brokerage and are able to assist with any of your general insurance requirements including home/contents insurance, car insurance and business insurance. In that regard ABF members may like to visit the TBIB website www.tbib.com.au to peruse the range of services on offer.

Why choose CGU?

CGU has been protecting the Australian way of life for almost 160 years by providing a comprehensive range of market-leading products that encompass commercial, rural, personal and workers' compensation insurance needs. We are one of Australia's largest intermediary-based insurers and are supported by a nationwide network of insurance advisers and business partners. We offer high-quality policies that can be tailored to your insurance requirements, so you can choose the cover that's right for you and only pay for what you need. Our outstanding service, dedication to paying valid claims promptly and customer support systems are just some of the ways we make it easy to do business.
